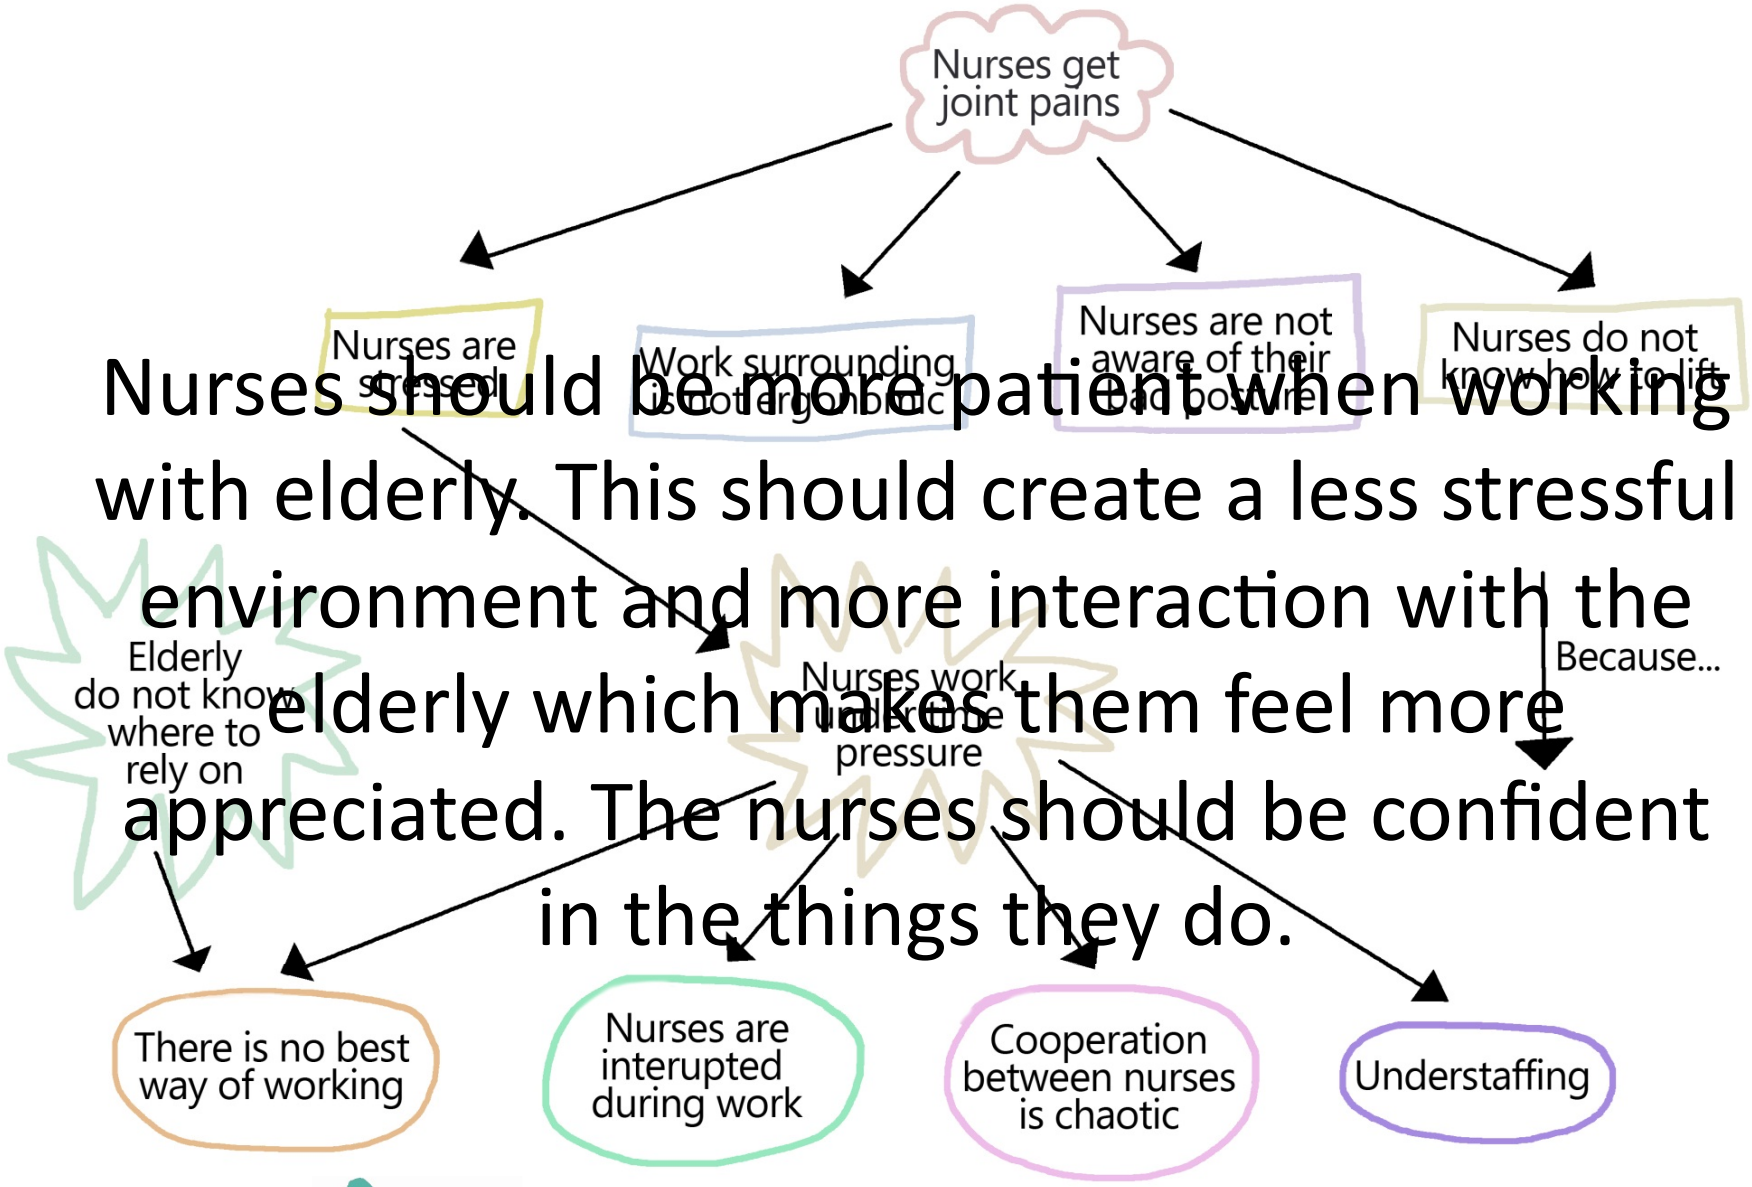
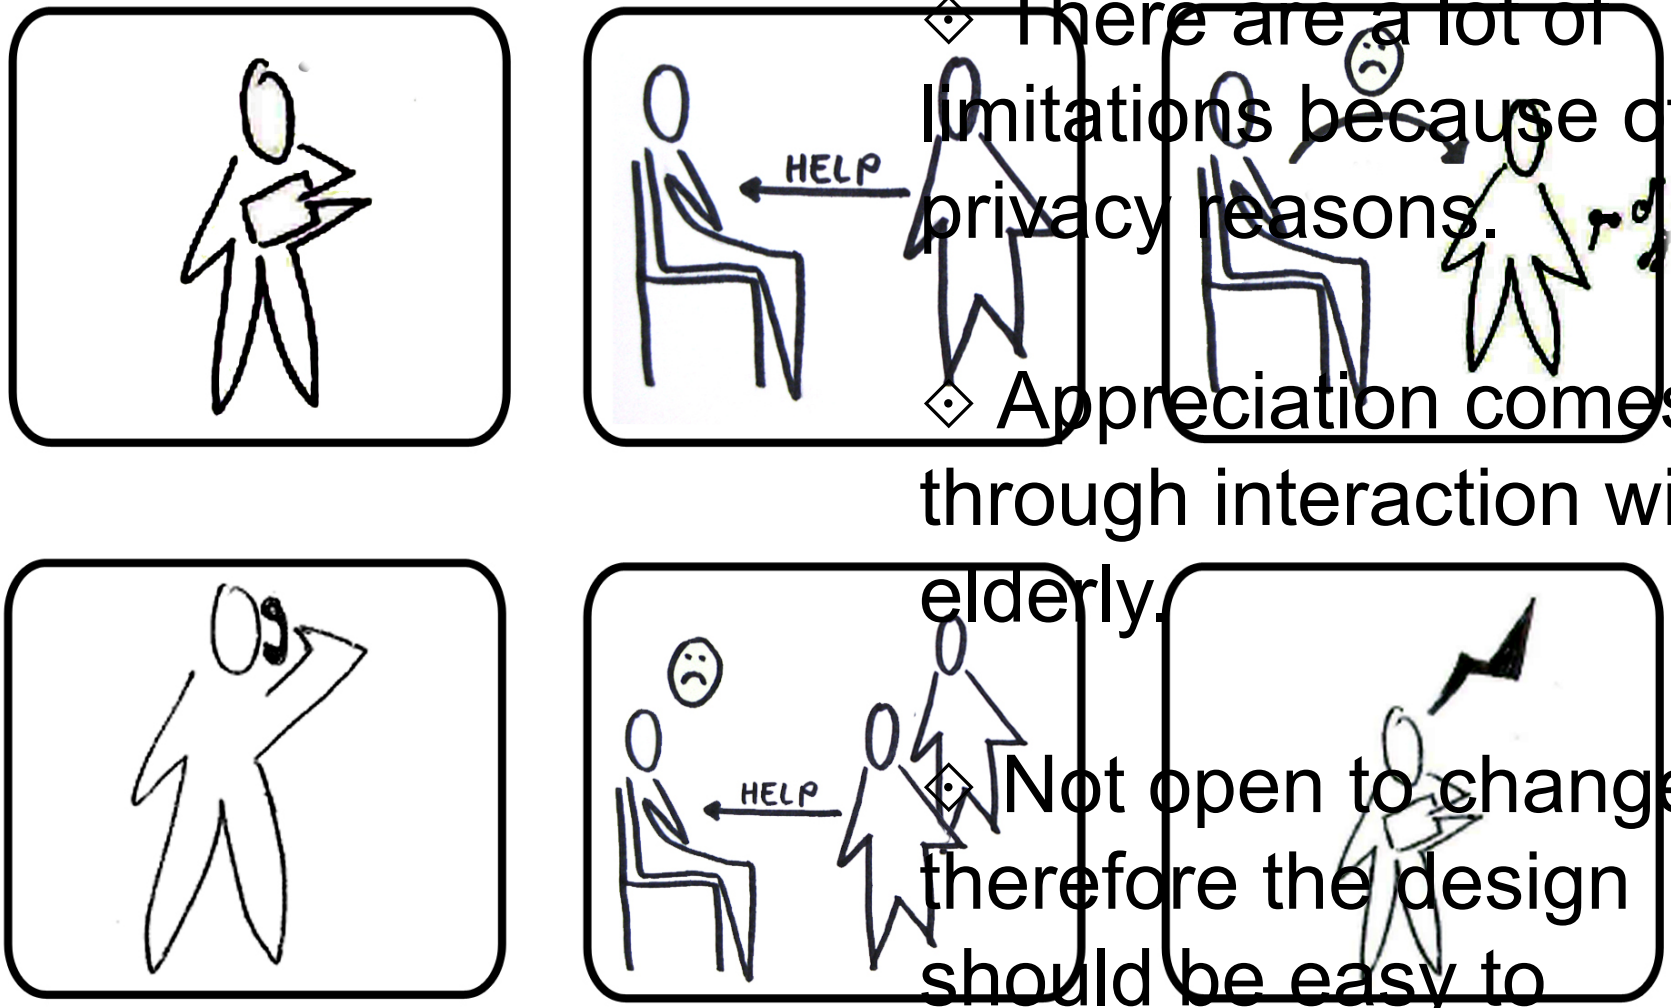
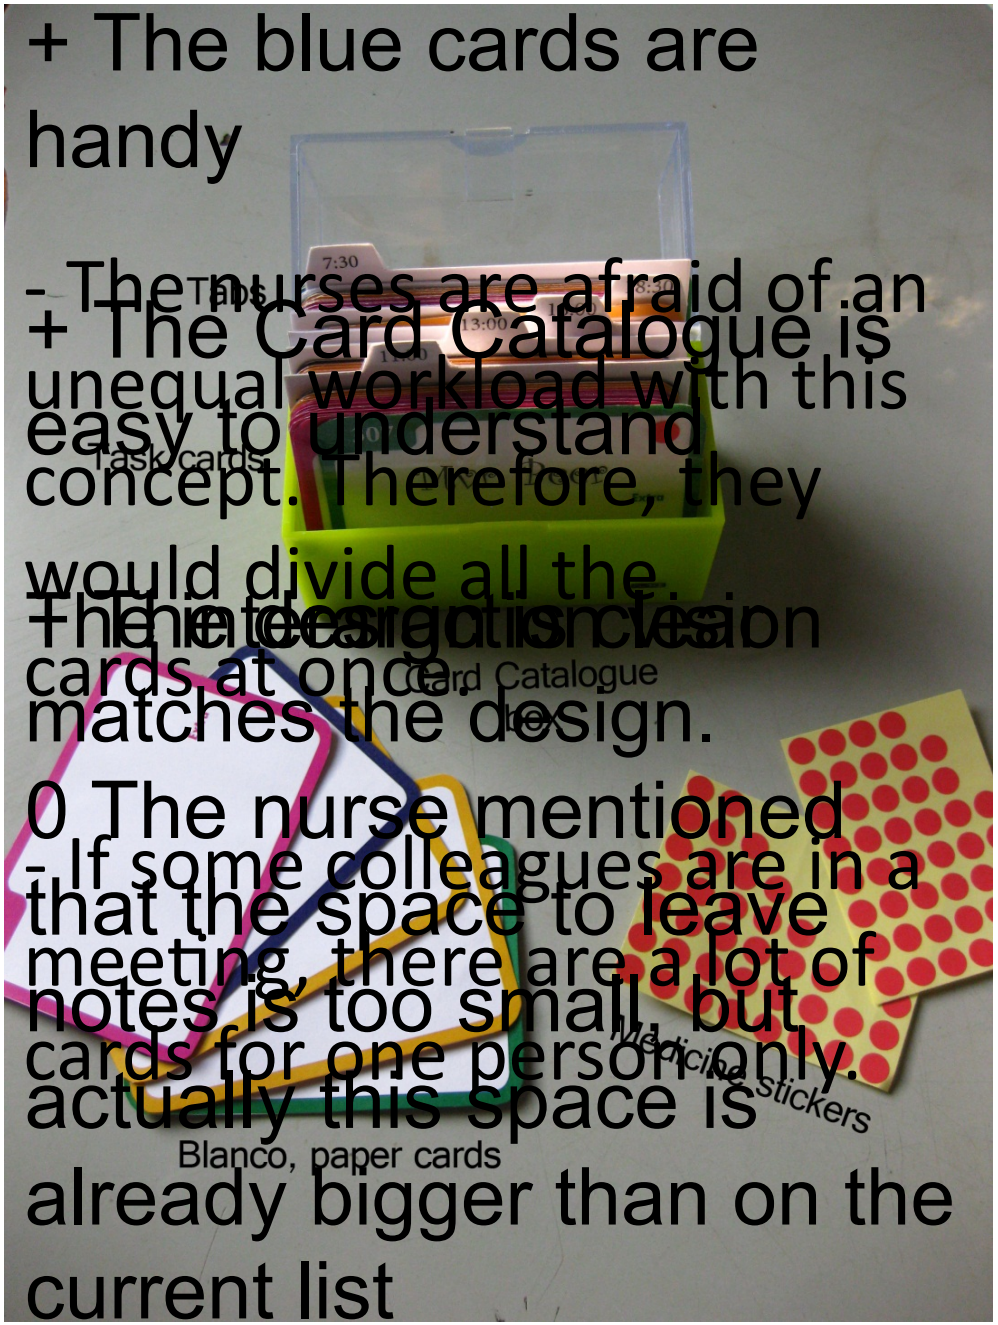
Improve the work situation of nurses, in an elderly home, who get physical pains during work.



Nurses should be more patient when working with elderly. This should create a less stressful environment and more interaction with the elderly which makes them feel more appreciated. The nurses should be confident in the things they do.



- There are a lot of limitations because of privacy reasons.
- Appreciation comes through interaction with elderly.
- Not open to change, therefore the design should be easy to adapt



+ The blue cards are handy

- The nurses are afraid of an unequal workload with this concept. Therefore, they would divide all the cards at once.

+ The Card Catalogue is easy to understand

+ The design is clean matches the design.

0 The nurse mentioned that the space to leave notes is too small, but actually this space is already bigger than on the current list

- If some colleagues are in a meeting, there are a lot of cards for one person only.

During this project I focused on the support of medical professionals in an elderly home. These nurses work under a lot of pressure which result in joint pains. By changing their way of working, they should have more patience when working and therefore have less joint pains.

Thank you
