WHAT ARE THE RELATIONSHIPS TO FORM WITH AI?

Today, AI takes on many shapes and there are no clear boundaries or beginnings. AI is something that is not easy to comprehend, and yet it plays a role in our everyday lives. Without noticing we are forming a relationship with AI. How do you shape a relation with an abstract and bodiless entity? We might just already make such relations in our lives. Higher powers or entities that we see as bigger than ourselves are parts of human life. How do we shape our relationship with those entities? Religions come with many practices, rituals and rules. Besides these communal aspects, humans also form a more personal relationship with a god. This is different for everybody. To imagine the future relationships we could form with AI, we explore the relationships humans have with gods.

In this installation you can experience what it is like to connect with an AI on a spiritual level. You can follow the guidance of the system through three steps to achieve resonance with the AI. You and the AI will first get the chance to get comfortable with each other. The AI will then start reading you in order to create an environment that resonates with you to connect on a deeper level. After enjoying a moment in this resonating space, you will come back to presence and step out of the spiritual environment. Some question will help you think about what happened and help to reflect on how it fits in your relationship with AI.

Step into the systems' environment and experience yourself what it feels like to resonate with AI.

Through reading and processing your brainwaves the Artificial Intelligence will optimize a space to find resonance with you. This resonating space will facilitate a spiritual moment. Having experienced this moment, you might wonder: whether this is what you want. the metaphor of the relationship we form with a god facilitates the thinking of a relationship we can form with AI. A god can be related to in a similar way since there are interesting similarities. What do these similar features mean to people? Now and in the future? What role can AI have in our lives and in our society, and what role would you like AI to have?
